Dr. Rabindra Narain Singh is a name that evokes excellence in medicine, integrity in leadership, and selfless service to society. With a career spanning over five decades, he has not only transformed the landscape of orthopaedic surgery in India, particularly in Bihar, but has also championed numerous humanitarian causes—touching lives far beyond the confines of hospitals and operation theatres.

Born on January 29, 1948, Dr. Singh's academic journey is as distinguished as his career. After earning his M.B.B.S. and M.S. (Ortho) degrees from Patna Medical College, he went on to pursue further specialization in the United Kingdom, obtaining the prestigious F.R.C.S. from Edinburgh and M.Ch. Orth. from the University of Liverpool. He spent six formative years in the UK, mastering advanced orthopaedic techniques, before making the selfless decision to return to India in 1982 to serve his homeland.

Since his return, Dr. Singh has dedicated himself to the cause of healthcare in Bihar—a region historically underserved in tertiary medical care. As Chairman of Radha Ballabh Healthcare & Research Institute Pvt. Ltd., he founded the Anup Memorial Orthopaedic Centre & Research Institute, a state-of-the-art centre of excellence in orthopaedics. This institution has been recognized by the National Board of Examinations for postgraduate training and has become a beacon of hope for patients across Eastern India.

A pioneer in Total Joint Replacement Surgery in Bihar, Dr. Singh introduced advanced surgical techniques at a time when such services were scarcely available in the region. He has trained and mentored scores of young orthopaedic surgeons, thereby raising the standard of care and fostering the next generation of skilled professionals.

Beyond his clinical accomplishments, Dr. Singh has devoted his life to philanthropy and nation-building. As a senior member of Rotary International, he has played a pivotal role in Polio eradication campaigns in Bihar and Jharkhand, led medical missions for earthquake relief in Nepal, and organized numerous free health camps, treating underserved populations with compassion and dignity. Under his leadership, the TCI Artificial Limb Centre has distributed more than 34,000 artificial limbs to differently-abled individuals—a life-transforming contribution to public welfare.

Dr. Singh's spirit of service extends deeply into education and social rehabilitation. He has worked for over 25 years with Bihar Netraheen Parishad, supporting education for blind girls. As President of Kusth Seva Sangh, he has championed the cause of leprosy eradication. He is also associated with Kishore Dal, an orphanage, and runs Pushpanjali Shiksha Kendra, a free school for slum children from his own residence. His compassionate care of over 17 orphaned girls is a deeply personal act of social commitment.

In recognition of his outstanding humanitarian service, Dr. Singh has received several prestigious honours including:

The Gold Medal from the Governor of Bihar (2009) for over four decades of service to the Indian Red Cross Society

The Rashtriya Gaurav Award from the India International Friendship Society, New Delhi
