

Smt. Mala Singh

Mala Singh is a Patna-based businesswoman, social worker, socialite and fashion designer. Born and brought up in Patna, Bihar, she has developed a multifaceted professional identity through her involvement in real estate, construction, fashion, social work, and community activities.

Early Life and Education:

Mala Singh was born and raised in Patna. Her upbringing in the city enabled her to maintain a close association with its social, cultural, and business communities. She is a graduate of Magadh University, an educational background that contributed to her professional development and interest in entrepreneurship.

Business Career:

Mala Singh serves as a director of Artech Construction Engineers Private Limited, a Patna-based construction and real-estate development company. Through the company, she is associated with the construction and property-development sector, which plays an important role in the growth and changing urban landscape of Patna.

In addition to her directorship, she is involved in other independent business ventures. Her entrepreneurial activities reflect her interest in developing and managing businesses across different fields. Her work combines commercial enterprise with an understanding of design, presentation, and customer-oriented services.

Fashion and Design:

Mala Singh is also known for her interest and knowledge in fashion, apparel, and jewellery. As a fashion designer, she has an appreciation for clothing, styling, ornamentation, colour, and presentation. Her understanding of apparel and jewellery adds a creative dimension to her professional personality and distinguishes her from business leaders working solely in conventional commercial sectors.

Her interest in fashion also connects her with social gatherings, cultural programmes, celebrations, and public events in Patna.

Social Work and Public Life:

Mala Singh is regarded as a popular social worker in Patna. Her involvement in social activities has helped her build a visible presence among local communities. She is associated with social interaction, public engagement, and initiatives aimed at contributing to the welfare and development of society.

As a socialite, she is familiar with Patna's social and cultural circles and is known for maintaining relationships with people from different professional and community backgrounds. Her public presence reflects a combination of entrepreneurship, social participation, and personal initiative.

Personal Interests:

Cooking is one of Mala Singh's principal interests. She has a passion for preparing and presenting food and takes pleasure in culinary activities. This interest also complements her role as a host.

She is known for hosting parties and social gatherings. Her hospitality, social confidence, and interest in food and presentation have made her a familiar figure at private and community events. Through such gatherings, she brings together friends, business associates, social workers, and members of Patna's wider social circle.

Personality and Contribution:

Mala Singh represents a modern, multidimensional woman entrepreneur from Patna. Her activities extend beyond a single profession: she is connected with construction and real estate through Artech Construction Engineers Private Limited, with fashion through her knowledge of apparel and jewellery, and with society through her social work and public engagement.

Her journey illustrates how entrepreneurship, creativity, hospitality, and community participation can be combined in one professional and social identity. Through her business interests and involvement in public life, she has established herself as a recognised personality in Patna.

Concluding Profile:

Mala Singh may therefore be described as a businesswoman, real-estate professional, fashion designer, social worker, and socialite of Patna. A graduate of Magadh University, she serves as a director of Artech Construction Engineers Private Limited and is also engaged in other business ventures. Alongside her professional commitments, her passion for cooking, fashion, jewellery, and hosting social events forms an important part of her public personality.